ANNOUNCEMENTS

BREED THEATER.

Truly, the best picture of the season is to be seen at the Broad theater for the first half of this week, and is entitled The Little Station Agent, being a thrilling story of the perils, heroism, and the fight between rival towns, told by the little station agent.

What do you suppose I care for your dirty little country?

Zelma showed no mercy toward those who had suspected of dishonesty. He received injuries similar to those of medieval Spain.

The Norwegians do not understand any other kind of treatment," he asserted. He granted monopolies in every staple article of commerce, on condition that he should be a partner. Whiskey, tobacco, oil, rubber, mahogany, coffee—from these sources he amassed the $15,000,000 at his disposal, according to the expression of his wife.

But all this wealth has not brought him happiness. The costly bijoux and scintillating diversions of Paris have caused to tickle his jaded palate.—Philadelphia Ledger.

College Girls as Wives.

Only the nice college girls get married; complaints a critic. Well, that is the only kind of girl who has a fair chance to get married anyhow.

The competition for husbands is keen and few men escape but it is evident, as the evolutionists have pointed out, that the fittest survive and snare the husbands. So far, the college girl seems to have made good, as the expression of her wife may be allowed (the expression) are married.

The other fourth is teaching school or running Carnegie libraries, and a girl that isn't "nice," whatever the term implies, certainly is better in these occupations than in inhabiting homes for spinners. Besides, there are a lot of mighty attractive girls of education who are not married at all, and we are of the opinion that it is their own fault if such is, and greatly to their credit. They have seen the experiences of some of the nice girls who have married in the days of aviation prices and are content to do without husbands.

But it seems that at bottom our critics complain that the girls make no use of their education after they are married. This is where he makes his mistake. Any man who has married one or more college graduates understands that their intellectual activities are not put to sleep at the altar. It is a curious law of nature that leads a woman of brains to marry a man with little culture so that she may have a chance to rub her superiority off on their husbands at all times until it becomes painful.

Meriden.—Undercliff association is now a thing of the past and in its stead has come the Meriden Tuberculosis Relief Association. The name was changed at a recent meeting of the directors.

New Britain.—Deposits in the Savings Bank of New Britain show increase of $16,542.15 for the year and in the Hurtt Savings bank in the same city $173,532.36 during the same time.

Glastonbury.—James L. Cowles of Farmington, the "father of the parcels post," is booming J. H. Hale, the peach grower, of Glastonbury, for the United States service in place of McLean or Bulkeley.

Bridgeport.—Harry H. Pinney, general superintendent and manager of the Union Metallic Cartridge company of Bridgeport, has tendered his resignation to the company and will go to the middle west to engage in a different line of business.

Litchfield.—The Litchfield Canoe club has filed incorporation papers with the secretary of state, the incorporators being Charles H. Colt, Litchfield; John P. Elton, Waterbury; Charles T. Payne, New York. The amount of authorized capital stock is $2,000.

New Haven.—A dead filed in the office of the town clerk shows that the late Frederick Silverthorn was in all probability one of the largest individual holders of mortgages on real estate in New Haven, the mortgages aggregating over $120,000, and are widely held throughout the city.

Manchester.—The prohibition state central committee has voted to send a delegation to the national prohibition congress to be held in Chicago some time next month. The delegation will be Chairman E. L. G. Holenthal of Manchester, Secretary Myron T. Smith of Hartford and the Rev. Duane N. Griffin of Hartford.

Shattering a Tradition.

Edward Douglass White is the first associate justice of the United States supreme court who ever became chief justice. John Rutledge had served as associate justice, but he was not a member of the court when he was appointed chief justice and his nomination was not confirmed.

More curious still, White is the only chief justice of the supreme court who previous to his appointment had even been a federal judge. All the other chief justices—Jay, Ellsworth, Marshall, Taney, Chase, Waite and Fuller—went directly from political or private life to that great office.

It has been held that an unwritten law forbade the elevation of an associate justice to be chief justice. This rule was grounded in the theory that such promotion might excite jealousies on the supreme bench; and that associate justices might be tempted in times of great national stress to decide cases in accordance with the wishes of the president in order to gain his favor. The theory has been destroyed by experience. The supreme court is the trustee of its own honor, which it guards vigilantly. After the legal tender case, Associate Justice Grier was compelled to retire from the bench because the other justices felt that his conduct reflected upon the court.—New York Herald.

A Man Without a Country.

Zelma wants to come back home. He is not happy in Belgium. The "Lion of Central America" is tired of roaming at large and would return to his native jungle. He would be about as welcome there as Castro in Venezuela.

When Zelma was expelled, the whole of Central America breathed a sigh of relief. He was a man with no redeeming or endearing personal characteristic except his courage. He wished to expel a Peruvian who had offended him. The Peruvian threatened to appeal to his own government, Zelma laughed sardonically. "When I scorn the United States," he said, "ridicule Germany and spit upon England."

Ends Winter's Troubles.

To many winter is a season of trouble. The frostbitten toes and fingers, the pinched lips, the blisters, cold red and rough skin, are all the result of such trouble before Buckle's rubicund Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of burns, piles, cut-sores, eczema and sprains. Only 25¢. Lee & Osgood Co.'s.

WONDERFUL KEM DY

That's What is Said of Stomach Prescription Guaranteed by The Lee & Osgood Co.

Stephen Waite of Lansing, Michigan, writes:

"For over three years I suffered much pain and suffering from stomach disease. I had no help from my digestive organs. My food would stick in my stomach and I could not eat. I got a dizzy headache. I got tired and used every remedy that I heard of, but it remained for M. O. M. to cure me entirely. Before I had used three boxes my appetite and digestive organs became all right. It is wonderful remedy."
